Sectoral additions with regard to additional (statutory) requirements

Table 2 Overview of sectoral conditions additional (statutory) requirements

Sector	Addition	Code
Business services and security	Based on the Dutch Private Security Organisations and Detective Agencies Act, the work placement company is an approved private security organisation in the Netherlands that has a valid ND, BD or PGW permit from the Ministry of Justice Agency for Scrutiny, Integrity and Screening or carries out security work in the Kingdom of the Netherlands on the basis of other Dutch laws or regulations. This valid permit (or the performance of security work) must have taken effect at least 1 year prior to the application for accreditation as a work placement company. Approved private emergency centres and private video surveillance centres can train for one of the mbo security qualifications if they also handle the alarm follow-up in-house and have a permit for this from the Ministry of Justice Agency for Scrutiny, Integrity and Screening. A self-employed person can only be accredited as a work placement company if they have valid proof of identity for private security in their own name and issued to their own organisation. Contrary to Article 3, paragraph 2 of the SBB regulations for accreditation, a work placement company for the mbo qualifications security guard guarantees that all core tasks and work processes during the work placement can be fully learned in professional practice. The work placement company that is admitted as a private security organisation with an ND permit can demonstrably bear ultimate responsibility for security for at least two different clients.	H

Sectoral addition (H):

Based on the Dutch Private Security Organisations and Detective Agencies Act, the work placement company is an approved private security organisation in the Netherlands that has a valid ND, BD or PGW permit from the Ministry of Justice Agency for Scrutiny, Integrity and Screening or carries out security work in the Kingdom of the Netherlands on the basis of other Dutch laws or regulations. This valid permit (or the performance of security work) must have taken effect at least 1 year prior to the application for accreditation as a work placement company.

Approved private emergency centres and private video surveillance centres can train for one of the mbo security qualifications if they also handle the alarm follow-up in-house and have a permit for this from the Ministry of Justice Agency for Scrutiny, Integrity and Screening.

A self-employed person can only be accredited as a work placement company if they have valid proof of identity for private security in their own name and issued to their own organisation.

Contrary to Article 3, paragraph 2 of the SBB regulations for accreditation, a work placement company for the mbo qualifications security guard guarantees that all core tasks and work processes during the work placement can be fully learned in professional practice. The work placement company that is admitted as a private security organisation with an ND permit can demonstrably bear ultimate responsibility for security for at least two different clients.

Workplace trainers must have (also) acquired and maintained their coaching and assessment competencies by completing a workplace trainer course developed and organised for the sector.

An organisation that simultaneously trains more than two aspiring security guards in professional practice has at least two certified workplace trainers.

The workplace trainer is trained as a security guard (or coordinator security guard) or equivalent in accordance with the provisions of the RPBR (Article 5, paragraph 6) and has operational experience in security work.
